$4.6 million sewer repair 'Gold-plated' system may get plastic lining

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The "gold-plated" Nameoki sanitary and storm sewer system may soon get a plastic lining.

The City Council agreed Tuesday night to accept a $4,605,426 bid from Insituform of Missouri to rehabilitate the entire Nameoki sewer system in northeast Granite City. The project includes inserting Insituform linings in the existing sewer lines and rehabilitating the lift stations.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said the Nameoki system has been plagued with problems since 1955 and has cost the city millions of dollars.

The system received its "gold-plated" nickname during its construction at what many residents considered a very high cost.

"This action is a really, really big step forward," Cruse said.

Mae Warfield, who has been street superintendent since 1982, said sewer breaks have cost the city between $500,000 and $700,000 every year since he took office.

"Voting for this project is one of the best things you can do for Granite City," Warfield told aldermen.

The bid, one of two opened Tuesday, was accepted with the stipulation it be reviewed by the city's legal and engineering staffs prior to its submission to the state for approval.

The project will be funded from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency revolving loan fund.

The other bid, from Insituform Midwest, was $5,229,596.

County employee strike possible

By John D. Milazzo
Staff writer

EDWARDSVILLE — The president of the largest union representing Madison County governmental employees said Wednesday a strike is likely, if county officials fail to pick up the pace in lagging contract talks.

President of Local 799, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Jim Goodall said talks centered on a new three-year contract have stalled.

Goodall said the 200 employees covered under the contract are expressing anger over what is perceived as some county officials' unwillingness to bargain in good faith.

The employees have been working without a contract since the last three-year contract covering them expired Nov. 30, 1989, final day of the county's 1989 fiscal year.

Goodall said he has heard nothing from the county about new talks since a Friday, May 18, meeting when county representatives refused to take a proposed contract package back to the full County Board.

That meeting followed an earlier negotiating session May 7 when the county presented the local with a plan that was unanimously voted down by the membership the following day, Goodall said.

Following the rejection of the county offer, Goodall said, the members took a strike authorization vote that now empowers the union's executive committee to call a strike.

He said a strike could not come any sooner than June 2 because of a clause in an agreement extending the expired contract. That provision calls for a mandatory 10-day notice in writing of the intent by either the labor or management side to terminate the agreement.

About 365 county employees are represented by AFSCME, with the bulk of them covered under the County Board contract that is under discussion.

"I guess you'd have to say we're close to impasse, although that's a word we don't like to use," said Goodall.

He said the county has refused to budge on an array of issues on the table, including wages, holidays, vacations, hospitalization and sick leave.

"We're only looking to catch up with or stay even with what other bargaining units have been able to achieve. We're not trying to break any new ground here," Goodall said.

The most recent meetings have included Goodall and AFSCME Council 31 staff representative Robert Brown, representing the union, and County Director of Administration James K. Monday and Judy Nelson, a paid

Fires damage two houses

By Andy Stiering
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Fires caused extensive damage to two houses late Tuesday night and early Wednesday afternoon.

Children are thought to have caused Wednesday's fire, and arson is suspected in Tuesday's, said Granite City Fire Department spokesman.

Wednesday's fire began shortly after 1 p.m. in a bedroom of a mobile home at 2904 E. 23rd St.

The fire Tuesday broke out at about 11:15 p.m. also in a bedroom, in a one-story frame house at 715 N. 26th St. that was being renovated.

Alice Miller, who rented the East 23rd Street property and lived there with her four children, said she was bathing her 7-week-old daughter when her 8-year-old son told her of the fire.

"I went in there and saw a fire in the mattress," the distraught Miller said as firemen were finishing up extinguishing the blaze.

"When I couldn't put it out, I just grabbed my baby and got out of there," she said.

Miller has two other children, both in school at the time. "Thank God," Miller said.

The fire destroyed the contents of the trailer, and Miller said she had no insurance and didn't know what she and her children would do. "My boyfriend's mom might take me. I don't know."

Shift Commander Don Simon said the blaze was "probably started by children playing with matches or a lighter." He said he doubted that the owner would try to rebuild the structure.

State arson investigators have been called in to investigate Tuesday's fire. Approximately $15,000 worth of damage took place. The property belonged to Ruth Ray of Granite City and was in the process of being remodeled.

The man doing the remodeling, James Stuart of St. Louis, formerly of Granite City, said several thousand dollars worth of his tools had been stolen sometime between 4 p.m. and the time of the fire.

"We secured all the locks and everything," Stuart said.

Stuart said two different parties had been trying to purchase the house from Ray, who inherited it from her late husband, Lonzo, four years ago.

Former jailer arrested again

EDWARDSVILLE — A former Madison County jailer, suspended last October for selling crack cocaine, was arrested again Monday in West Madison and charged with felony weapons possession.

Richard King, 42, of Venice was arrested in the 900 block of Jackson Street at about 4 a.m. by Madison County Sheriff's Deputy Jeff Bridick.

King was sentenced March 30 to three years probation after he admitted selling crack cocaine to an undercover drug officer on July 6, 1989. He was suspended without pay last October from his job as a corrections officer.

County Sheriff Bob Churchich has asked the department's merit commission to fire King.

Even though the new incident happened in West Madison, Venice police had received a telephone call about guns being fired. The area is near the Venice boundary.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Bud Galloway said Bridick saw King in a parked car. After King identified himself, Bridick realized King was violating the terms of his intensive supervised probation, which required him not to be outside home after 7 p.m.

King had nothing to do with the shots being fired, said Sgt. Tom Arnotti.

Searching King, Bridick found him wearing a .38-caliber handgun in a holster and found about 40

High schools set graduations

QUAD CITIES — More than 600 seniors are expected to graduate from the three local high schools during the next week.

Fifty-one seniors are expected to take part in the Madison High School graduation at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 25, in the gymnasium. The seniors will perform a song during the ceremony.

School Board President John Hamm and High School Principal Dan Kostencki will speak and Hamm will present the graduates with their diplomas. Reserved seating has been set aside for families of the graduates and the public is invited.

Venice High School expects 35 seniors to graduate in a ceremony at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 29, in the gymnasium. The class will be addressed by Althea Cross, a retired teacher who taught for 37 years at Venice High School.

Granite City High School expects 525 graduates this year. The ceremony is scheduled for Friday, June 1, at 8 p.m. on the high school football field. In case of rain, it will be postponed until the same time June 2.

Should it still be raining June 2, the graduation will be moved to the gymnasium.

Roadblocks out for city stickers

GRANITE CITY — Fifty Granite Citizens got an expensive reminder Tuesday that 1990 vehicle stickers were due May 1.

Police Chief Don Knight said that's how many tickets his department issued at roadblocks set up at several spots in the city.

Knight also said that was entirely too many people without windshield license stickers.

"We have other things we'd rather do than harassing citizens who have forgotten to buy a city sticker," Knight said. "But we're going to enforce the law. What I would rather have is for people to voluntarily comply with the law and buy their stickers.

"For all the services they get from the city, they should have been willing to spend $5 for a sticker."

The price of stickers went up May 1 to $10 for cars and $5 for motorcycles. The price for trucks varies depending on the size of the truck.

City Clerk Bob Stevens said less than 12,000 city stickers have been sold since they went on sale in March.

"I don't understand it," Stevens said. "I don't remember sales ever being this bad."

NICE CATCH: Jeff Zukas, 22, of Granite City makes a mid-air catch in Wilson Park while playing Frisbee with two friends one afternoon this week.

Second crash victim dies

GRANITE CITY — Well known insurance man Jan L. Langenstein, 54, of Granite City, who was critically injured in a traffic crash April 21, died at 9:53 p.m. Tuesday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. His wife, Muriel, also 54, was killed in the same accident.

The two were returning home from their daughter Jill's wedding reception in Madison when their vehicle turned into the path of another car on Horse shoe Lake Road at Arlington Drive.

He was the owner of Langenstein Insurance Agency.

An obituary notice is given on Page 6A.

Warrant served on Granite man

Clifford T. Robinson, 21, of the 800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested at 12:40 a.m. May 19 on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of resisting a peace officer.

Assault, damage charged

Jeffrey A. Waters, 22, of the 3900 block of Kirkpatrick Homes was arrested at 12:40 a.m. May 19 on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of resisting a peace officer.

Police went to the 2500 block of Kirkpatrick, where Tina A. Spangler, 21, of Alton alleged Waters had punched in and broken the rear lounge on her 1979 Camaro. Bill R. Spangler, 28, of Alton alleged Waters pointed a knife at him and made a threatening remark. Officers reported finding a lock-blade knife with a six-inch blade in the street nearby. The knife and the suspect were identified by the victims and Waters was arrested.

Waters posted $204 bail and was released.

Windows taken at home

Ken Archer of the 4000 block of Stearns Avenue reported that somebody removed three storm windows and frames from the front of his residence on the afternoon of May 17.

Granite City

Brooklyn woman arrested

Sherry Ivory, 23, of the 500 block of South Fifth Street, Brooklyn, was arrested at 6 a.m. May 19 at the Venice Police Station on a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear on a petition to revoke probation.

Arrest on Niedringhaus

Gary W. McCoy, 42, of the 2200 block of E. 25th Street was arrested on Niedringhaus Avenue at Delmar Avenue May 19 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Police said McCoy was stopped after he ran a stop sign on 20th Street at State Street and a red light at 20th Street and Edison Avenue. Charged with disobeying a stop sign and a traffic control device as well as DUI, he was released upon posting $102 cash bail and his driver's license.

Residence burglarized

Jack Stallard of the 1600 block of E. 23rd Street reported that somebody burglarized his apartment during the morning of May 18 by climbing through an open window, knocking over a fan by the window. Taken were a dress and a pair of glasses.

Jewelry reported missing

Linda S. Harrison of Briarcliff Drive reported in mid-May that somebody took a $300 gold chain and a $100 gold bracelet from her residence April 26.

Home of pastor looted

The Rev. Henry Brown, pastor of the Victory Worship Center, 2601 Cayuga St., reported that somebody burglarized his residence while he and his family were out of town May 13-17. The home is connected to the church. Taken were six rings valued at $1,700 and a watch valued at $200.

Parked car burglarized

Robert A. Spaeter of the 2300 block of Washington Avenue reported that somebody burglarized his car during the night of May 17-18. Entry was gained by breaking a right side window. Taken were a $350 stereo amplifier, a $140 radar detector and a $100 citizen-band radio.

Storage shed demolished

A storage shed in the 1700 block of Delmar Avenue, owned by Jerry L. Yaeger of the 2100 block of Adams Street, was demolished by two men who hit it repeatedly with concrete blocks until it fell in, witnesses reported May 17.

Microwave, jewelry gone

The residence of Torie Porchie of the 1900 block of Maple Street was found with a back door open May 17. There were no signs of forced entry, but several items were missing, including a $320 microwave oven, a $100 watch and two wedding rings.

Arrested on warrant

James E. Hickman of the 100 block of Wilson Park Lane was arrested May 17 after he called the police on another matter. Police found a warrant for failure to appear in court to face a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Hickman was held in lieu of $252 bail.

Fishing tackle stolen

Christine R. Bellovich of the 2400 block of Cleveland Boulevard reported that somebody entered her car during the night of May 17-18 and took a citizen-band radio and some fishing tackle.

$22,000 bulldozer stolen

David Yates of Edwardsville reported that somebody stole a $22,000 Bobcat miniature bulldozer from a job site on Cargill Road in Granite City. Tractor-trailer tracks led away from the site, police said, indicating that the thief used a truck.

Inspection sidelines 147 trucks

More than 62 percent of the 902 trucks inspected during three days this month at the weigh stations on Interstate 55/70 at Collinsville and on I-64 near O'Fallon violated one or more safety regulations, according to the Illinois State Police.

Those inspections were part of a special 72-hour nationwide program.

The percentage was below the national average of 75-80 percent, Master Sgt. Jim Luman said. Vehicles totaling 135 were put out of service for serious safety violations and 12 were taken off the road for violation of hazardous-material rules. Totals of 93 tickets and 762 warnings were written for safety violations.

Adopt-a-Pet Day set June 2

The Madison County Humane Society will hold an Adopt-a-Pet Day on Saturday, June 2, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Sea World on Illinois 111 in Wood River.

Cat adoptions are $10 during Adopt-a-Cat Month, and dog adoptions are $40. Many of the homeless animals have been neutered or spayed, and all have been inoculated and wormed.

Adoption fees include a tag, collar and leash. For further information on the puppies and kittens available for adoption, the Madison County Humane Society can be called at 656-4405.

7 teachers retire early

With the end of the spring semester, seven Belleville Area College faculty members closed out their teaching careers.

At its May 16 meeting, the BAC Board of Trustees approved early retirement for the following full-time faculty members:

- Josephine Jones—nursing
- Darrell Kohlmeier—English
- Elizabeth Schoeberle—nursing
- Dave Shannahan—physics
- James Splitstone—electronics
- Wally Strittmatter—physical therapy
- Farrell G. Wilson—biology

BAC President Joe Cipfl said each of the seven, except for Splitstone, will be replaced. Cipfl said the current enrollment in the electronics program does not warrant filling Splitstone's position at this time.

Draft officials attend training

GREAT LAKES, Ill. — Steve Ortiz and Roy Wilimzig of Granite City were among 17 board members of the Belleville Selective Service Area to complete their annual update training program.

The training included a refresher course on Selective Service classification procedures, a review of the Board Member Handbook and mock case files with simulated personal appearances of applicants before the board.

Although the Selective Service boards are in an inactive status, they would be responsible for deciding claims for classifications such as conscientious objection, hardship and religious ministry should a draft for military service be reinstated.

The training insures that the 38,913 men registered with Selective Service in the board's area would receive fair and effective classification by trained and objective individuals, should the need for the system arise.

Young men must register within 30 days of their 18th birthday at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000 and/or up to five years in prison.

BAC tax hike to improve access for handicapped

By Rick Arnold
Staff writer

BELLEVILLE — Doug Brink is no longer a student at Belleville Area College. He graduated two weeks ago with a degree in applied sciences.

But his work to make the college a better place will be remembered for a long time.

It was Brink, 37, a quadriplegic living at the Mar-Ka Nursing Home in Mascoutah, who wrote a letter to BAC President Joe Cipfl last December, listing some suggested improvements to make BAC's Belleville campus more accessible for people with disabilities.

"One of the priorities was automatic doors so disabled students would have easier access," Brink said. "Also, a unisex bathroom in case a disabled student would have an aide of the opposite sex; they could both go in there."

Five months later, after a one-on-one meeting with Dr. Cipfl and the formation of a committee to address the accessibility issue, Brink's wish list has become a reality.

At its May 16 meeting, the BAC Board of Trustees voted 6 to 1 to approve a one-time tax rate of 3.52 cents per $100 assessed valuation to fund renovations at BAC's three campuses in Belleville, Granite City and Red Bud. The levy will raise $789,000, Cipfl said.

Residents will see the increase starting with their 1990 tax bills in 1991, he said.

Board member Ted Farmer voted against the levy. Farmer has said that such improvements should be paid for through the college's general fund balance.

Rains force close of some campgrounds

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Department of Conservation Director Mark Frech urged visitors to call ahead before traveling to river campground areas.

"Flooding has forced sites in central and western Illinois to close. No determination has been made as to when they will reopen," Frech said. "More rain could bring more closings and sunshine could open those sites which have been closed."

Frech said the department intends to operate some of the damaged areas as follows:

• Carlyle Reservoir Complex/Eldon Hazlet State Park, Carlyle: North end of South Shore, Peppenhorn Branch are closed. At this time, campers are being registered on a one-day basis. Carlyle Complex 594-3015, Wildlife Management Area, 425-3533.

• Frank Holtz State Park, East St. Louis: East end of School Road is closed. Fish Derby Lane is closed. 425-3533.

• Horseshoe Lake State Park, Granite City: Water is almost to the causeway, any more rain will close it. 931-0270.

• Marshall County Conservation Area, Lacon: Eight campsites are closed. 389-246-8351.

• Mississippi River Area, Grafton: The Illinois River ramps are closed. 376-3303.

• Pere Marquette State Park, Grafton: The harbor is closed, docks have been removed and electricity turned off. The lower portion of the picnic and fishing area is closed. 786-3323.

• Rattlesnake State Park, Lincoln: Southern park trails are flooded. 217-755-9224.

• Rice Lake Fish & Wildlife Area, Canton: Half of campground is closed. 647-0184.

• Sangamon Conservation Area, Brownsville: Knapps Island Road is closed. 546-2628.

Briefly

Annual boat race on Monday

St. Louis County Executive H.C. Milford will be at the helm of the Tom Sawyer and St. Louis Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl Jr. will pilot the Becky Thatcher in the ninth annual Memorial Day riverboat race Monday, May 28.

The paddlewheel excursion boat race on the Mississippi River traditionally kicks off the summer visitor season in St. Louis. Milford will take the helm for St. Louis County for the first time. Last year's race was won by then-County Executive Gene McNary, who racked up five victories during his tenure.

Mayor Schoemehl has won the race twice, and one race ended in a tie.

The paddlewheelers will line up at the Poplar Street Bridge at 9:45 a.m. and the race will begin at 10. The captains must pilot their boats upriver past the Eads and Martin Luther King bridges before turning south to head for the Poplar Street Bridge finish line.

Appellate Judge Carl R. Gaertner will oversee the race from a helicopter over the Mississippi.

Free Optifast orientation set

A free Optifast orientation session is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 30, in the Wellness Center gym, 2103 Iowa St.

"Obesity not only slows you down and keeps you from enjoying a lot of summer fun, it can also shorten your life," said Jim Chiappa, program director.

"It is one of the leading contributing factors in heart disease and many other life-threatening conditions."

"With the help of the medical, nutritional and behavioral modification professionals in the Optifast Program, part of the Obesity Treatment Clinic at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, you can start getting ready to enjoy summer and the rest of your life," Chiappa said.

"Optifast is a medically-supervised multidisciplinary treatment approach for patients who are more than 50 pounds or at least 30 percent over ideal body weight."

"The program combines medical supervision, a modified fast, behavioral modification, nutrition education group sessions and exercise. It is both safe and effective."

"The program is designed for individuals interested in changing their lifestyle so they can have a healthier life. Both day and evening classes are available."

"Optifast participants can lose weight safely, under the supervision of a doctor and a specially trained staff of nurses and other medical professionals. You can lose weight for life, through this program."

"It's not easy. It's work. Hard work. But the results are worth it," he concluded.

The Optifast Program telephone number is 798-3939.

Need volunteers at VP Fair

Bringing "America's biggest birthday party" to the St. Louis metropolitan area is considered a big job that can't be done without the help of volunteers.

The VP Fair currently is looking for volunteers to help with concessions, marshaling and paging.

Volunteers working in non-food concessions help VP Fair management, serve as a liaison to vendors, and answer the telephone in a trailer on the fairgrounds.

Approximately 100 volunteers are needed for marshaling. Marshals help control traffic and crowds on and around the fairgrounds. They must be at least 21 years old.

Pages are young adults who range in age from 16 to 21. They provide crowd control around the stages and major exhibits, escort handicapped individuals to their destinations, and deliver data to the various fair committees.

Volunteers are asked to work four- or five-hour shifts during the fair, set for June 30 and July 1, 3 and 4.

Anyone interested in volunteering may call the Volunteer Hot Line at (314) 576-9016 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Red Cross honors Dehn

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross held a volunteer recognition dinner to honor and give service awards to chapter volunteers for their service.

The dinner was held at Jerry's Cafeteria, with many volunteers and their spouses in attendance.

Gloria Horkits, a volunteer with the St. Louis Red Cross, and Mike Roberts, a meteorologist for KMOV-TV, were the main speakers for the evening.

Each talked of volunteerism and the personal sacrifices that are made by volunteers.

They also discussed how volunteers in organizations work with other professions to meet the needs of the community during times of emergency.

Horkits described how she became a volunteer after a tragic loss of a family member.

Service awards were presented to the volunteers present. Elmer Dehn was awarded the Exceptional Volunteer Service Award for his work in public relations and direct services of the Red Cross.

The chapter had prepared to recognize over 75 volunteers, but not all could attend. The Red Cross praised all for their time and commitment to the objectives.

Terrell's play will open in New York

An author as well as an actor, Terrell Anthony (former Granite Cityan Greg Terrell) soon will see his first full-length play produced in New York City.

"Quiet on the Set" will be performed starting June 13 at the Westbeth Theater, 151 Bank St., New York.

Three other developments in his life also are being noted by his friends and family members in Granite City.

"He has left the cast of CBS-TV's daytime dramatic series, "Guiding Light," to expand his career. He had appeared as "Rusty Shayne" on the nationally televised program for three years.

"Starting late this week or next week, he will appear in a "pinch-hitting" role on ABC-TV's "All My Children" series, substituting in one of the leading roles for an actor who was injured.

"Terrell has been signed by MGM Studios and ABC Broadcasting to play the lead role in a television series pilot film called "NYPI."

His interest in becoming a playwright dates back to a time even before he began acting, and it has been growing in recent years.

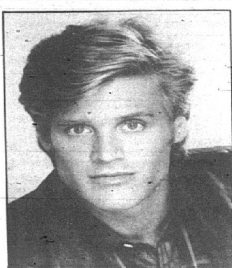

His new comedy production already has been viewed by theater audiences. It opened during January in Wichita, Kan., and among the many applauding it there were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Terrell of Granite City.

Now it is moving into New York City with a cast that includes Guiding Light's "Reva Shayne," actress Kim Zimmer, and the same show's "Harley Davidson Cooper," actress Beth Ehlers.

All My Children cast members appearing in "Quiet on the Set" include actresses Kate Collins and Kady McClain and actors Matt Servitto and Trent Bushey.

Rounding out the play cast are three other "daytime soap opera" stars, David Forsyth of Another World, Robert Woods of One Life to Live and Margaret Reed of As the World Turns.

"Quiet on the Set" primarily concerns two actors and two actresses who are brought together one evening to tape an episode for a popular soap opera.

Terrell Anthony
... New York playwright

The four (Reed, Bushey, Forsyth and Ehlers) play dual roles as "soap" characters and as actors whose painful pasts all collide during the evening.

Another cast member (Servitto) plays the director's off-stage voice as well as five different crew characters who occasionally appear on stage.

Terrell serves as executive producer as well as being the playwright. The director is A.C. Weary.

The author's training as a writer includes study at the University of Missouri and the University of California.

Terrell began his acting studies at the Goodman School, Chicago.

While there, he was associated with the Free Street Theater Company as an actor and with the Steppenwolf Theater Company as a writer.

He has appeared in such stage productions as Sam Shepard's "Curse of the Starving Class" (Off Broadway).

Terrell was featured in the film/television production of "Two Fathers' Justice" starring George Hamilton and Robert Conrad.

Drug fact day here June 2

Granite City's first "Get the Facts on Drugs Day" will be held on Saturday, June 2, at St. Elizabeth's School, Johnson and Pontoon roads.

Continuous programs can be viewed from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The event is being presented by Granite City Elks Lodge 1063 with funding provided through the Granite City Joint Council/DARE Committee by a grant from the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services' Positive Youth Development. DARE is Drug Abuse Resistance Education.

There will be no admission charge and persons of all ages are invited to attend.

Displays will be segregated for adults and junior and senior high students, with a fun area devoted to younger children.

"The war against drugs does not begin with the derelict addict on Skid Row," according to Elks Exalted Ruler Paul Schrage.

"The battle must be fought in our community — our businesses, our schools, our homes."

"We believe well-informed parents are the most effective weapons in the war on drugs. Drug abuse and the problems it creates are a result of unhealthy choices."

"Our goal is to make our children aware of the choices they must make to remain drug-free," Schrage said.

"The displays will be available for company/organization meetings."

"While there will be no charge for use of these displays, consideration of a donation to replenish materials would be appreciated."

Veterans will hold reunion

Korean-war veterans of the Army's Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 2nd Battalion, 110th Infantry, 23rd Division, plan a 40th reunion in September at Ligonier, Pa.

They may call 412-238-2357 in the day or 412-238-9425 at night.

IRAs, pensions don't cut Social Security payments

By Bill Hunot

Social Security Administration

Q. I retired last year at age 63 and started receiving Social Security. I receive a company pension and I will be withdrawing money from my IRA this year.

How much can I receive from my pension and IRA before my Social Security benefits are reduced?

A. IRA distributions and pensions have no effect on Social Security benefits. Neither do dividends, interest and other investment income.

The only income you have to limit for Social Security purposes is income from wages and self-employment.

Since you are under age 65, you can earn up to $6,840 in 1990 and still get all of your Social Security. If you earn more, $1 is withheld from benefits for every $2 earned above the limit.

People age 65 to 69 can earn up to $9,360 in 1990. Higher earnings result in a $1 deduction for every $3 earned over the limit.

There is no earnings limit on people age 70 or older.

Q. My 35-year-old husband recently died. I never thought I would need Social Security so soon. What kind of benefits can I and my two children receive? How do I apply?

A. Each of your children can receive benefits until he reaches age 18 (age 19 if still attending a primary or secondary school full-time). You can receive benefits until your youngest child reaches 16. If any of your children are disabled, entitlement can continue even longer.

Apply for survivor's benefits by phone or by visiting any Social Security office.

You will need the Social Security numbers and proof of age for you and your children. You also will need a copy of your late husband's death certificate and his W-2 Form for the most recent tax year.

The amount of benefits payable varies according to how much your husband earned. But the average benefit for a widow with two children is $1,173.

Q. I'm getting married. How do I change my name with Social Security?

A. It's easy. Just call or visit your Social Security office as soon as possible after your marriage and let them know your name changed.

You will have to fill out a form and submit it with documents that identify you under both your old and new names. You can use your marriage certificate if it shows both names.

All documents will be returned to you. Approximately two weeks after Social Security receives everything we need, you will get a new Social Security card with your new name on it.

You will retain your original Social Security number.

Q. My elderly father recently was injured in an automobile accident and had to be hospitalized for a few days. Will Medicare pay for the hospital expenses?

A. When automobile liability insurance is available as the primary payer, that insurance must pay first.

Medicare is the secondary payer and will pay part of the approved charges for services that the primary payer does not cover.

Obituaries

Jan Langenstein
Langenstein

Jan Langenstein, 54, of Granite City died at 9:53 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, 1990, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. He had been hospitalized since an April 21 automobile accident on Horseshoe Lake Road at Arlington Drive.

His wife, Muriel C. Langenstein, died in the accident. They were married May 22, 1954.

Mr. Langenstein was born on Sept. 15, 1935, in New Athens and had resided in the Granite City area for 21 years.

He was the owner of Langenstein Insurance Agency, 2220 N. Nameki Road, and was a board member of Magna Bank.

A member of Elks Lodge 1063, Moose Lodge 272, the Granite City Jaycees and the Madison County Sheriff's Association, he was a Fourth Degree member of Knights of Columbus Council 1098 of Granite City. He served in the Navy Reserve and was of the Catholic faith.

His survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Gary (Jean) Beggs Sr. of Belleville and Mrs. Raymond (Jill) Podraza of Collinsville; three sons, Jan Langenstein Sr. of Collinsville and James and Joel Langenstein, both of Granite City; and seven grandchildren.

Visitation will be from 5 to 8 p.m. today and all day Friday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road. A prayer service will be held at 5 p.m. today at Irwin Chapel. The Revs. Don Wolford and Carl Kemme will celebrate a funeral Mass at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Pontoon and Johnson roads. Burial will be at Walnut Hill Cemetery, Belleville.

Masses may be offered as memorials.

Kern

Vivian (Jones) Kern, 80, of Arlington, Va., formerly of Granite City, died at 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, 1990, in Northern Virginia Doctors Hospital, Arlington, after a short illness.

She was born Sept. 23, 1909, in Elwood, Ind., and had lived in Arlington for 35 years. Mrs. Kern previously was a secretary at Granite City Steel.

Surviving are three nephews, Jon L. Dressel, Philip F. Dressel and Lucian W. Dressel, all of St. Louis, and great-nieces and great-nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Paul Kern, who died in 1964; her parents, Benjamin and Elizabeth (John) Jones; one brother and three sisters.

Graveside services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville. No visitation is planned here. Davis Funeral Home, Granite City, is in charge of arrangements.

Lauraelise Serrano
Serrano

Lauraelise M. (Papin) Serrano, 62, of Granite City died at 10:15 a.m. Tuesday, May 22, 1990, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis. She had been ill for four months and in the hospital for a short time.

Born Feb. 17, 1928, in St. Genevieve, Mo., she resided in Granite City all her life.

Mrs. Serrano was employed at the Granite City Township Office as a bus driver for senior citizens.

Surviving are her husband, Frank Serrano, two sons, Rick Ingram of Madison and Randy Ingram of Granite City; four daughters, Carla Martinez, Ramona Serrano and Mrs. Wesley (Carol) Donif, all of Granite City; and Connie Fritchard of Madison; one sister, Mrs. Allen (Dorothy) Kirk of San Diego; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Visitation and a prayer service were held Wednesday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road. Funeral services were conducted at 9 a.m. today at Holy Family Catholic Church, Granite City, with burial at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

Memorials are suggested for Holy Family Church.

Pyles

Rosemary (Hubbard) Pyles, 63, of Granite City died at 12:45 p.m. Tuesday, May 22, 1990, at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

Born Nov. 26, 1926, in Litchfield, Ill., Mrs. Pyles was a lifelong resident of Granite City and a self-employed beautician. She also was a private nurse who cared for the elderly. She was of the Protestant faith.

Survivors include two daughters, Evonne Diane Douglas of Granite City and Stacey Collins of St. Ann, Mo.; three brothers, Jacob Hubbard of Glen Carbon, Joseph Hubbard of Granite City and Lawrence Stroud of Edwardsville; three sisters, Eva Carnaghi of Edwardsville, Eva Warner of Godfrey and Florence Brady of Bethalto; and two grandchildren.

Visitation was held Wednesday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, where 11 a.m. funeral services were held today, with burial at Glen Carbon City Cemetery.

Hommert

Cornelia L. (Hoekstra) Hommert, 83, died at 10 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, 1990, at Madison County Nursing Home in Edwardsville, where she had resided for the past month. She had been in ill health for the past year.

Mrs. Hommert was born June 17, 1906, in Madison County, and was a lifetime resident of the area. She had worked as a clerk at Six, Baer and Fuller for many years, was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Madison and the First Church in Bunco Club.

Survivors include two daughters, Marian and JoAnn Hommert, both of Madison.

Preceding her in death was her husband, George Hommert, who died Oct. 24, 1981.

Visitation will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, where funeral services will be held Saturday at 1 p.m. with the Rev. Vernon Brown officiating. Burial will be in Lakeview Memorial Gardens in Belleville.

The family suggests memorials to the church, the Animal Protection Association or the Madison County Humane Society.

2-job worker gets refund after paying maximum tax

By Bill Hunot

Social Security Administration

I work two jobs during the year and each employer withholds Social Security taxes. Since I pay the maximum on my first job, will my second job be exempt from Social Security taxes?

A. Each employer must withhold and pay Social Security taxes on the first $51,300 of wages he pays to each of his employees. It makes no difference if the employee had other employment.

However, employees are only taxed on their first $51,300 of wages.

Each of your employers still must deduct from the first $51,300 that they pay you, but you get a refund at the end of the year.

Form 1040, your federal income tax return, includes a line to enter excess Social Security tax you paid because you had more than one employer. The excess will increase your income tax refund or decrease the amount you owe when you file.

I was a government employee most of my working career and didn't pay Social Security. I had some self-employment after my retirement and finally became eligible for Social Security when I was 72.

I have been told that I am not eligible for the additional benefits given to retirees who work between ages 65 and 70. Why?

A. Those delayed retirement credits are given for months between ages 65 and 70 if you are eligible for a check but don't get one because you haven't retired yet.

You don't qualify for them because you didn't have enough work to be eligible for a check until after age 70.

People born 65 to 69 are fully retired in 1990 if they don't earn more than $9,360. Earnings above that amount result in $4 deducted from benefits for every $3 above $9,360. If earnings are high enough, no payment will be due for some months and delayed retirement credits will be awarded.

Q. My husband will begin getting Social Security at age 62 so he will only get 80 percent. Will this reduce my Social Security that I receive as his wife?

A. No. A wife's benefit is computed based on her husband's full unreduced benefit — the amount he could have received had he waited until age 65 to start his benefits.

The wife's potential age 65 benefit is half of that. If the wife decides to take benefits before age 65, her benefit is reduced because of her age.

For example, let's say the husband could draw $800 per month if he waits until age 65. If he draws at age 62, his benefit will be permanently reduced by 20 percent to $640. His wife can draw $400 per month if she waits until age 65 no matter what option the husband picks. If she starts at age 62 her benefit will be permanently reduced by 25 percent to $300.

One thing to remember, too, is that Social Security will figure out how much you can draw based on your own work. If that's more you will receive instead of wife's benefits.

consultant of Executive Services, representing the county.

Federal mediator Charles Reilly has also been involved in the talks over the last two months.

At the May 18 session, Goodall said, the county representatives were asked "if they would have the courtesy to take our package back to the full County Board," since the union representatives were told that county officials at the meeting had no authority to either accept or reject the union proposals.

Instead, Goodall said, Monday told the union officials the package would be given to the board's negotiating committee, comprised of Chairman Herbert "Junior" Milton, D-Granite City, and Fred Dalton, D-Collinsville.

Neither Milton nor Dalton could be reached for comment on Wednesday.

Monday said he expected Milton and Dalton to meet by the end of this week and work out a recommendation for the board, but said he hesitated to speculate on a time frame when that recommendation could be expected.

Meanwhile, Goodall said he's having problems satisfying members who want to go out on strike.

"Many of them are very upset," he said. "I've had lots of phone calls and criticism."

Laboratory tests are being conducted on the powdery substance.

State's Attorney Bill Haine's office filed a charge of unlawful possession of a weapon by a felon, a Class 3 felony.

Haine's office also filed a petition to revoke King's probation, a step that could lead to King's having to serve three years in prison.

King was released on $50,000 bond.

Richard Robert Wagner II

Herrin- Wagner

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. (Cheryl) Herrin Jr. of Granite City are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Ragina Anne Herrin, to Richard Robert Wagner II, son of Richard and Karen Wagner of Joliet.

Both young people are serving in the Navy.

Miss Herrin is currently stationed in Portsmouth, Va., attending Pharmacy Technical School.

Wagner is an emergency medical technician at the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, Ill.

A July 21 wedding is being planned in Joliet.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person has a will prepared in Illinois, the will must be signed in the presence of two witnesses in order to be valid. A will prepared by the testator himself, which is known as a holograph, is recognized in Illinois, but this type of will also must be properly witnessed. The requirement of two witnesses is to ensure that what is found in the will was actually what was intended by the person who had it prepared.

Sometimes when an individual has a will properly prepared and signs it in the presence of two witnesses, he later wishes to make changes. If the changes are minor in nature, he may merely need to sign a codicil, which is an addition to the original will. For more substantive revisions, however, the person may need to have a new will prepared. It should be noted that the later document, whether it be a codicil or a new will, also must be signed in the presence of two witnesses.

In one recent case, a woman had a will prepared by an attorney. In the will, she divided her property equally among her three sons. She later decided that she did not want her eldest son to receive anything at the time of her death. At the time the original will was prepared, the woman placed the will in her safe deposit box. When she later decided to make the change noted above, she merely attached a note to the original will, indicating that her eldest son was to be disinherited.

It was obviously the mother's intention to change the contents of the original will. Unfortunately, she did not follow the proper procedure in attempting to disinherit her oldest child. She needed to have a codicil or new will prepared, properly witnessed and attested by two individuals. By not following the formalities required by law, the attempted change was of no consequence. The original will remained in effect, and the eldest son received one third of his mother's estate.

It is clear that the intentions of an individual may be frustrated if he does not follow the procedures prescribed by law. To ensure that an original will or subsequent changes are valid, one should consult an attorney of his choice. In light of the minimal cost involved in preparing a will or a codicil, to attempt to prepare these documents without the assistance of an attorney is foolhardy.

Laureate Alpha meets in Madison

Ruth Stoyanoff of Madison served as hostess to the Laureate Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority on May 9.

President Juanita Calve presided and Imogene Forrest read a letter from the Piassa Health Services inviting the group to take advantage of their programs dealing with drinking and driving and seat belt safety. All the programs are available for presentation to interested organizations, it was noted.

Alice Koniczny presented an invitation to her daughter Suzanne's graduation this month at Bradley University in Peoria.

A note was received from member Martha Dyer thanking the group for flowers sent during her stay in the hospital due to heart surgery.

Social chairman Evelyn Tolliver reported a Mother's Day Tea was planned in the home of Arlene Haldeman. She reminded members that "Beta Buddies" will be revealed at the last meeting in May in the home of Imogene Forrest.

Haldeman presented the cultural program dealing with the life of Richard Bernard "Red" Skelton — "The Mean Wittle Kid."

Following the program, a dessert course was served to those mentioned and Bea Brackett, Delores Dorch, Lora Mae Lombardi and Pat Tsigalaroff.

Ruth Class making plans

Ruth Bible Class of Calvary Baptist Church met for its monthly meeting in the fellowship hall at the church.

The devotional, "Why Go To Church?" was given by Dorothy Barylske.

Minutes from a previous meeting were read by secretary Thelma Phelps and a financial report was given by Louella Prokes.

Other reports were given by Phyllis Knight, chairman. Topics discussed were plans for the Mother-Daughter Banquet and the Vacation Bible School, scheduled June 24-29.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Pauline Hall, to Pauline Weir, class teacher, and Louella Prokes, Phyllis Knight, Thelma Phelps, Mary Hoover, Loraine Thompson, Grace Cruise, Ruth Moser, Dorothy Barylske, Maxine Hoover and Elizabeth Phillips.

The American Red Cross, in association with Church Women United of the City, is sponsoring a blood drive to be held at St. Elizabeth Church on Friday, June 29.

In an effort to promote participation in this event, "secret" arrangements are being made to conduct a special drawing for all parishioners donating blood.

Members of the Marquette graduating class of 1990 received congratulations from St. Elizabeth Church: Kris Barks, Sean Hay, Roger Schrenk and Tricia Thoun.

Marquette graduates from Holy Family Church are: Dave Couteous, Chris Michaels, Amy Conterman, Tim Miller and Ernie Walker.

On Sunday, May 27, a special baccalaureate Mass will be celebrated at 11 a.m. All graduating seniors from all area high schools are invited. Seniors are asked to bring their cap and gown. To RSVP, call 452-8244.

Graduation of Holy Family School's eighth-graders will take place on Tuesday, May 29, at 7 p.m. at the church.

A reception will follow the ceremony.

A special Memorial Day Mass will be held Monday at Calvary Cemetery near Edwardsville. The Knights of Columbus Honor Guard and Holy Family Choir will participate.

Following the Mass, there will be refreshments, compliments of the Knights of Columbus.

The Christian Singles met May 15 at Granite City First Baptist Church.

Attending were: Evelyn Miles, Dorothy Teller, Mary Reed, Olive Isner, Floyd Vickie Elmore, Dorothy Watkins, Olea White, Marie Cook, Gladys Freeman, Hassie Jones, Kathy Sargent and Ray Sargent.

Sargent sang, "Consider the Lilies" and "My House is Full." Games were played and prizes were awarded to Cook, Watkins and Sargent. Each member received a Mothers' Day poem from Joyner.

The next meeting is June 19. Maxine Green covers the Granite City and Nameoki Township area for the Press-Record.

Job insecurity

The American worker finds himself 'moving on' more frequently as economy forces changes in the way business is done

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

"Hired to be fired" is how major league baseball managers often describe the job security in their business.

It's not that bad for the rest of us, thank goodness. Not quite, anyway.

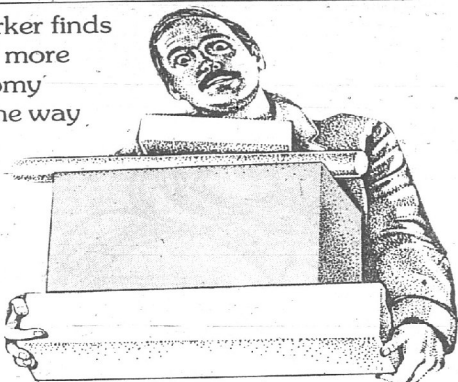

But according to a study commissioned by the Robert Half International employment agency, 25 percent of us will get fired sometime in our working lives — maybe more than once.

What's worse, 20 percent of those who get fired will not deserve it.

Why? The vast majority of cases, says Barry Schapiro, senior consultant with Human Resource Management Corp., the reason they're let go is that the job's being reorganized out of existence.

How can this be, in a country in which the work ethic is still strong, in which workers are still more productive than their counterparts in West Germany and Japan?

More than 60 percent of St. Louis area executives polled recently said their company had been acquired, merged or reorganized in the last two years.

So what value have dedication, loyalty and hard work to a worker who can be fired because his or her company was acquired in a merger or because somebody's financial empire collapsed like a house of cheap cards?

Plenty, says Robert Half, founder of the employment agency named for him and author of "How to Get a Better Job in This Crazy World." (Crown, $17.95).

Those who observe the traditional workplace virtues will be the last to go if the ax does fall on your company.

"In the army they say, 'Don't volunteer,' but in business that's how you get ahead," says Half.

"When it comes time to lay people off," says Schapiro, "management is first going to get rid of dead wood."

But what constitutes "dead wood"? Most people would resist being so categorized.

Schapiro says senior, high-salaried employees in their job classifications will be the first to go. In other words, if you've been getting raises but no promotions, your job could be in jeopardy.

"Employers are no longer going to keep people around just because they've been there a long time," Schapiro says. "If you want to keep your job, you have to demonstrate your value to your employer. Business is business."

In other words, if you've settled into a rut, you could get the business.

"No one should be in a job four or five years without some kind of a significant promotion," says Schapiro.

That doesn't, however, imply that getting stuck at one job is necessarily an omen of professional doom.

"Not everybody can move up in their company," Half says. "If they could, there wouldn't be any office boys. Everyone would be a manager."

According to Half and Schapiro, the following are steps you can take to maximize your job security:

- Volunteer for high-visibility jobs and assignments.
- Request frequent feedback from your superiors on how you're doing at work.

- Don't be afraid to move laterally within your company if you think another job may be more fulfilling or up your alley. Besides, there may be less competition for promotion in another division or department.

- And finally, don't answer a blind ad in a newspaper. It could be from your current employer. Even worse, it could be for your job.

Advice: Prepare for your next job now

Job analysts say most people getting out of college today will have eight to 16 jobs in the future, getting a job will be almost as important as keeping one.

Writing in his new book, "How to Get a Better Job in This Crazy World," Robert Half said merger mania has had at least one good result: it's no longer a stigma to be unemployed.

"No one looks askance at people who don't hang in with one company for the gold watch," Half wrote.

Barry Schapiro agrees, having been laid off from two jobs in the last five years — one as a TV producer and another as an employment counselor. He learned one valuable lesson — and learned it the hard way:

"New management very often likes to bring in their own team," he said. "Rather than having old people resist new systems, they get rid of them."

Schapiro suggests you prepare for your next job now by taking the following steps:

- Network. Keep your resume current and make contacts outside your company. "I tell clients if they aren't having lunch with a stranger every week, they're not doing their jobs."

- Stay informed. Keep track of your company's fiscal condition and prospects and trends in the industry by reading. "I recommend that every employee read the financial page and at least one business publication," Schapiro says. "You may learn something about your company weeks before the company memo arrives."

- Continue your education. Employers need workers who can learn and adapt. Says Schapiro, "Concrete skills need to be embedded in a broad-based liberal arts education."

Employment patterns to change in coming years

Where will the jobs be in coming years?

The Missouri Division of Employment Security has prepared a report, due but soon, that analyzes the employment outlook here for the next 10 years. The St. Louis Occupational Outlook Handbook says the local economy will mirror a national shift from goods-producing to service-producing industries.

Blue-collar jobs will increase slowly over the next decade, with just under 12,000 new jobs being projected annually. The service industry is where the growth will be. Service jobs are expected to grow by 29.6 percent in the coming decade.

Even though many of those jobs will be in minimum-wage, minimum-skill categories such as fast-food, many professional career opportunities will present themselves in the category of personnel supply services, business services, building services, legal services, day care services, nursing care and medical services.

Health services will continue to be the dominant industry, projected to employ more than 10 percent of the work force by the year 2000. Nursing and allied health-care professionals will probably be in great demand and enjoy competitive salaries and benefits.

Projections also show that the educational services industry will claim almost 7 percent of the metropolitan work force in the next decade. "That won't be the educators working with kids and teen-agers," said Russell Signorino, labor market analyst for the Missouri Division of Employment Security.

Employment in finance, insurance and real estate is expected to continue in a growth pattern, with healthy gains among mortgage bankers, securities brokers, insurance carriers and agents, real estate companies and investment and holding companies.

Unemployment Rates

Illinois versus U.S.

Back home again in Indianapolis, they're getting cars ready to race

"Gentlemen, start your engines!"

It's not really a sexist saying, in this case. Most years, women have had far too much good sense to risk life and limb competing in what may be the world's best-attended sports event, the Indy 500.

To average 225 miles per hour around a 2½-mile oval track, as defending champion Emerson Fittipaldi did this month to qualify to start first on Sunday, it is necessary to travel well over 250 mph except during the turns.

THAT IS CALLED standing on it, putting the pedal to the metal, utilizing a heavy foot, or any of a number of similar phrases. It's not called proceeding prudently to assure a long, safe and quick life.

Whether it's the speed or the spectacle, the turnout is always immense.

The crowd is, unofficially, said to exceed a half-million people each Memorial Day.

Certainly, the event fills Indianapolis to overflowing, with many of those attending spending a night or two in their automobiles or on lawns.

WHETHER IT is truly sports competition is debated by some, but I would vote for that label. It takes quite an athlete to endure the heat, to maintain concentration for 500 fast miles.

To hold the steering wheel firmly during sudden collisions or mechanical failures ... To find your way through a crowded crash scene, to see adequately through oil-stained windshields, or to ignore the anxiety involved in piloting a motor vehicle through traffic at nearly half the speed of sound.

ADMITTEDLY, the autos are less-sturdy and highly sophisticated, with wide tires and cleverly-positioned wings that help hold the car firmly on the roadway instead of cartwheeling through the air.

But skill and experience and fast reflexes and quick healing obviously are essential to survive in competition at such incredible speed.

Bill Winter

The efficiency of the pit crews plays a big factor in a driver's success, of course (a few seconds at four miles a minute constitute an eternity). And the genius of those designing and building the cars and engines is extremely important.

Chevrolet motors clearly have the edge this year, winning all nine positions in the first three rows of starters. The last of the 10 Chevy engines didn't do badly, either, garnering the 14th position in the 33-car field.

PROBABLY THE BEST way to view the annual 500-mile race is over live television.

ABC-TV usually does a fine job in covering the race, as radio broadcasters did for many years. It has only been in the last several years that live TV coverage has been permitted.

The cars travel so fast and the track and grandstands are so vast that you can only see snippets of the competition from any particular vantage point, I've been told.

Those who fill the infield area inside the track for refreshments, food and sunbathing are said to not pay much attention to the race itself.

TRI-CITY SPEEDWAY and a couple of other tracks are the closest I've come to witnessing high-speed racing. But Indy on TV never fails to be fascinating, justifying devoting several hours as a couch potato.

Only when you are present — or when a video camera serves as your eyes — can you appreciate a fixed-position near the track — do you realize how fast the pace really is. Long-lens cameras viewing the competition from far above tend to make the speed seem slower and more controlled.

Crashes still occur, but technological advancements have helped make the cars safer, and fatalities are rare. Yet, even such well-established racing families as the Unsers have suffered a tragic roadway death.

AL UNSER SR. and JR. are in this year's race, as are Mario Andretti and his son, Michael, and nephew, John.

Another Andretti son, Jeff, qualified, was bumped from the race and then ran out of time on the final qualifying day.

Rusty Wallace and Ken Schrader, once the best known drivers in the Metro East area, aren't at Indy; they are vying in stock-car races like the one Dale Earnhardt won Sunday in North Carolina.

BUT THE 1990 Indianapolis field does include Pancho Carter, who is well known in this region. Other famous drivers in the Indy race include Rick Mears, Bobby Rahal, A.J. Foyt, Danny Sullivan and Tom Snead. Even though the Indiana rivalry spans most of this century, it is hard to explain the intensity of the magnetic attraction that has kept fans throughout the nation and world.

But it exists, and there will be a lump in millions of throats as the colorful balloons soar into the sky, as Indiana native Jim Nabors sings "Back Home Again in Indiana" and as the engines roar to life on a track that now contains only a narrow strip of the original brick surface.

BASEBALL'S WORLD Series, NCAA basketball's Final Four, ice hockey's Stanley Cup series, the Olympics, football's Super Bowl and other bowls, and soccer's World Cup are all in the running, but Indy has somehow seems to surpass them all.

Whatever the magic is, it's real and will weave its spell once again this weekend.

May the Granite City Indians be going, as happens every year, and I'll be there in spirit.

Glik Retirees enjoy outing

The Glik's Retirees group met recently at Remington's Restaurant in Pontoon Beach for lunch and then went to the home of Nell Talley for cards.

Attending were: Lessie Dorch, Mary Baumberger, Freda Hicks, Edith Wofford, Helen Knezevich, Van Stuart and Janita Rosenberg.

An announcement was made of the birth of the first grandchild for Lessie and Kate (Buddy) Dorch. The infant was born on May 8, 1990, at St. Joseph's Hospital in Springfield.

Her parents are Larry and Beverly (Dorch) Smith and the paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith Sr. of Orlando, Fla.

The retiree and Glik Associates attended the 50th wedding anniversary of Jerry and Juanita Koschub on May 19 at the Madison AMVETS Hall.

A catered dinner was served, followed by dancing to the Joey James Orchestra.

Attending were: Jane and Jerry Duncan, Ida Dant, Mary Baumberger, Gerry Mendez, Eva and Willis Shepard, Neil and Walt Talley, Helen Knezevich, Lessie and Buddy Dorch, Millie and John Sherman, Freda Hicks, Ed and Kathy Dohnal, Donna Corrie, Van and Jim Stuart, Mary Moore and Violet Hior.

The Madison Junior Service Club held its 85th annual installation of officers May 8 at Wade's Clubhouse in Pontoon Beach.

The dinner was catered by Carman Cook and the hostesses were Dorothy Hatfield and Maryanna Kaminski. The theme was "Salute to Mothers."

The club's sponsor, Lillian Delps, opened the affair and thanked the donors and volunteers who volunteer and said the evening prayer.

The yearly financial report was given by Donna Hoover and the service report was read by Charlene Voloski-Turley.

President Debbie Dillon gave a summary of the year's activities.

Service awards were presented to: charity points, Karen Kaminski; service points, Carla Voloski; charity sales points, Debbie Dillon; and points for the "Most Outstanding Sustaining Member" went to Irene Orr.

Sustaining members Rita Barnhart and Janet Sinitz installed the following new officers for the upcoming year:

President, Charlene Voloski-Turley; first vice president, Carla Voloski; second vice president, Donna Hoover; secretary, Karen Kaminski; treasurer, Sandy Barnett; and board members, Jean Kostencki, Dagna Woodward, Maryanna Kaminski and Debbie Dillon, retiring president.

New members introduced were Penny Karius, Carol Smith and Christina Hatfield.

Gifts were awarded to Mary Moore as the "Eldest Mother" and Vicki White as the "Youngest Mother" (See MADISON, Page 24)

Waiting for some answers

News that Granite City may need to replace its high school or spend millions of dollars to repair the existing one prompts many questions:

- Has the current school deteriorated to the point that it no longer properly serves the educational needs of students?
- Why did the district establish a second high school, closing it in 1983, only to realize years later that the remaining school was falling apart?

- Can any school district afford a new high school in these days of financial uncertainty?
- How would you begin to finance such a proposition without guaranteeing that future generations of Granite City taxpayers won't have to be unduly burdened by debt?

These are all fair questions, and they must be answered quickly in order to gain public support.

If Granite City really needs a new high school, the district should be able to prove it.

Moves made to this point seem proper. Detailed study has been under way for months (though in truth not publicized, since there was little the district could report). And everyone involved says the issue is still in the earliest stages.

Superintendent C. W. Walmsley said voters might be the best barometer of sentiment, and we like that idea. Given the amount of time between now and whenever the issue could get to the polls, the district can properly answer the questions and establish a method of financing.

On one hand, act cautiously. Don't make decisions without thorough examination. On the other, act quickly to get the public's support. That's a delicate balance.

We're far from deciding whether Granite City needs a new high school. Like others, we're waiting for some answers.

Add affordable air capacity

It was encouraging Tuesday to hear U.S. Transportation Secretary Samuel Skinner tell 1,600 airport executives that giant Scott Air Force Base is a good candidate for conversion to joint civilian and military use. The nation is going to need added airport capacity, and it can be provided much less expensively in this manner.

The occasion was a St. Louis address to delegates at a national convention session, where Skinner said he is dedicated to Lambert Airport and its future. This is in line with the thinking of Scott joint-use advocates, who see only a supplemental role for Scott; together, Lambert and Scott can keep the St. Louis area viable — capable of handling current and accelerated business and population growth.

Although declining at this time to evaluate Lambert's proposed expansion into Bridgeton, Skinner said there is a good chance the year that Congress will enact a $3 per passenger national airport charge. That money would be used to finance airport improvements and expansions across the United States.

Public support will be the key to obtaining legislative backing for the $3 air passenger facility fee, he said in calling for active grantee efforts.

Skinner said the proposed revenue, which would be collected in addition to the existing tax on air passenger tickets, would help greatly to eliminate congestion and delays, enabling more people to reach their destinations safely and on time. It sounds to us like a mighty persuasive argument.

County Federal purchased

Quad Citizens' newest financial institution is First Bank of Illinois, O'Fallon, purchaser of the Granite City operations of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan and about half of the failed association's $100-million assets. The Bank of Edwardsville acquired the other portion, including Collinsville, Troy and Ginger Creek offices.

Operations are continuing without interruption at all four locations.

Although there is sadness over the demise of the firm, taken over in February 1989 by the federal government's Resolution Trust Corporation, officials say there will be little or no impact on depositors.

Local residents with all of the parties well and can take a degree of satisfaction in the knowledge that all of the financial affairs are now being placed in order, with relatively little pain other than Uncle Sam's national S&L bailout cost.

No such thing as speed limit

Speed kills. So does driving the speed limit.

I made that observation one day this week after conducting a test on the way to work. In summary: Follow the speed limit and you might find tire tracks on your tail.

My notes are kind of hard to read — I wrote them in a napkin with road hogs breathing down my neck — but from what I can tell, 35 is merely a number, not a law to most people. I drove the limit on the way to work, and was passed by every driver that could have passed me. My trip was 16.9 miles, and I was passed by 29 cars.

In return, I only passed one vehicle, a gas tanker that couldn't pick up speed fast enough near an intersection.

Does getting there quicker really make much difference? I don't think so. Some cars passed me twice (I caught up to them when they stopped for lights). And nobody really seemed to get too far ahead, despite trying.

I also clocked my trip: A normal run to the office takes 23 minutes. My test trip took 27.

On typical days, few cars pass me, which means we all probably exceed the limit. Also on typical days I keep my eyes to the horizon for county mountains and welcome the occasional headlight signal from oncoming drivers who note a speedtrap dead ahead.

Does that sound like a man of confidence or a confidence man? Just because everyone else does it, however, doesn't make speeding right.

Those extra four minutes I spent in commute during my test drive would add up to about 40 hours a year if I let them. But if the time were so important I could make it up by getting out of the shower four minutes sooner (my wife says I take too long to shower). Or finish meals four minutes quicker (she says I could also stand to do that).

My test, while lacking in any scientific credibility, was abundant with character. I got quite a few dirty looks as cars heard some of the drivers' comments. I read lips, and "no new taxes" isn't what they were saying.

My test probably won't slow anybody down, but I hope it does reinforce what most of us already know: We drive too fast.

Tonight on the way home I'm going to try something even crazier — driving on my side of the road. Wait 'til they get a load of that.

Work sites too dangerous

To the editor:

The workplace of today seems to be a forgotten environment. On April 28, Worker's Memorial Day, American labor mourned its dead and renewed its fight for the living.

AFL-CIO-sponsored memorial services were held around the country.

Emphasis was placed on highlighting the dangers of the workplace, the nation's forgotten environment.

Every year, according to the AFL-CIO, more than 10,000 workers are killed on the job. There are 70,000 permanently disabled and more than 6.2 million injured.

In addition, as many as 100,000 die from occupational diseases and up to 9 million are exposed to toxic or cancer-causing chemicals on the job site.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the reported injury and illness rates for the 20 most hazardous industries increased between 1987 and 1988.

Shipbuilding was rated the most hazardous with 44.9 injuries and illnesses per 100 workers in 1988, up from 40.1 in 1987.

Metallurgy was next, rising from 38.4 to 39.2, sawmills from 26.4 to 31.0; steel foundries 22.6 to 25.3; and gray iron factories from 23.8 to 30.3.

On Oct. 23, 1989, at the Phillips Petroleum Co. plastics plant in Pasadena, Texas, 23 workers were killed in what many call a preventable explosion.

The families of these workers will always ask, "Why did it happen?"

The question brings to mind the adage that "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." Sadly, all too often, a worker discovers that if he complains about a potential health risk, he is labeled a "malcontent" or "troublemaker."

The AFL-CIO has taken the initiative to stop this trend and to remind us that we go to our places of employment to work, not to die.

How many employees have been exposed to the silent killer, asbestos? All asbestos diseases are incurable and its one legacy is death.

Moose McCarthy, international representative of the Sheet Metal Workers Union, reported that after a screening of nearly 14,000 of its members and contracts, the union found that 32 percent showed evidence of asbestos-related disease. This is an unacceptable statistic.

There is no single government agency designed to protect the worker like OSHA.

The last nine years have seen this agency gutted and it has become a pale shadow of its former self.

The public must respond by contacting its representatives in Congress and the Senate and demanding job site protection.

Some might say that the life you save might be your own.

Compassion for others is a strength of our society and a fundamental principle of unionism. We can only pray for the dead, but we can fight for the living.

ETC completes 'fine year'

To the editor:

The Madison Board of Education would like to update the community regarding the leasing of the Louis Baer School to the Educational Therapy Center.

Last year prior to the leasing, there was a great deal of concern in the community regarding the school's future.

Before the Board of Education approved the lease, we conducted a public hearing with community members and established a study committee.

In January 1990, the committee was signed between the school district and the Educational Therapy Center.

Contained many conditions that the committee recommended which impacted upon the operation of the Educational Therapy Center program.

In January 1990, the community study committee met to review the progress of the Center's program in our neighborhood.

The committee further stated that the Educational Therapy Center's students and staff have been good neighbors, and that they preferred having them occupy the Louis Baer than having it empty.

At the May 3 board meeting the Madison School Board approved a new lease for the coming year.

The Madison School Board wishes to congratulate the Educational Therapy Center students and staff on the completion of a fine year in the Louis Baer School, and thank them for their high level of behavior throughout the school year.

Youth program successful

To the editor:

The Granite City Ambassadors Club wishes to express our deep appreciation to all of you who helped make the "1990 Youth Achievement Program" such a grand success.

The feedback we have been getting is most rewarding, as it is all positive, such as "It was truly a class affair." "We enjoyed all aspects of the day" and "What an array of talent and credentials were present."

Your help played a major part in the day going so smoothly.

Scott joint use farsighted

To the editor:

Recently I read with interest an article in the April 1990 issue of Frequent Flyer Magazine. The title of the article was "Instant Airports — Military Airports May Help Ease the Capacity Crunch."

The focus of the article dealt with the premise that by the year 2000, air travel in this country, and throughout the world would be like traveling on Thanksgiving weekend.

Crowds, more crowds and sheer chaos!

The author, Jerome Chandler, reported that although the problem has been foreseen for some time, relatively little has been done about it by the Federal Aviation Administration and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

He noted that by the mid-1960s, only two new major airports will have opened in the United States, Denver and Austin.

He went on to point out that one very viable, cost-effective and immediate solution to this potential nightmare capacity problem was the civilian use of military airfields.

As I read the article, I thought how farsighted those involved with the development of the joint use of Scott Air Force Base had been.

The state of Illinois initiated the study of the potential joint use of Scott in 1985 and the St. Clair County Board, recognizing the same long-range need, agreed in January 1989 to serve as sponsor for the construction of the joint-use facility.

Today, the southwestern Illinois region is at least five years ahead of the rest of the country because of the foresightedness of these groups and others who have worked to make the joint use of Scott Air Force Base a potential reality.

There is a great deal yet to be done before the first shovel of earth is turned for the construction of the new runway and before the first plane leaves the Air Force's environmental study now being undertaken by Argonne Laboratories.

Nevertheless, it is encouraging to those of us who support the Scott Joint Use concept to know that our region is among the leaders in developing what is proposed to become "the" effective and cooperative approach to provide quality airfield capacity at a minimum cost to the taxpayers of this country.

Sales by A.O. Smith on decline

MILWAUKEE — A.O. Smith Corp. has reported 1990 first-quarter earnings of $4 million or 50 cents per share on sales of $237.2 million, reflecting a 14 percent sales decline.

"The first-quarter results were in line with expectations," Robert J. O'Toole, president and chief executive officer, said.

"We were within a few cents of meeting last year's first-quarter earnings per share," he said. "We were extremely pleased that three of our four major units reported higher earnings. This is a very positive trend, and as Automotive Products sees improved volumes, we believe we will gain even more earnings momentum."

Smith, with its subsidiaries and affiliates, is a diversified manufacturer headquartered in Milwaukee. Its product lines include auto and truck structural components, fractional horsepower and hermetic electric motors, residential and commercial water heating systems, fiberglass air conditioning and piping systems, inorganic protective industrial coatings, agricultural feed storage systems, agricultural financing, and industrial/municipal water and bulk storage systems.

S.M. Wilson & Co. completes UE facility

GRANITE CITY — S.M. Wilson & Co., a general contracting and construction management firm with an office in Granite City, has completed construction on a new $2 million work facility in St. Charles, Mo., for Union Electric Co.

Located at 2100 Blue Stone

Drive off Missouri Route 94, two miles south of Interstate 70, the new headquarters replaces an existing facility located at 1801 Fairlane in St. Charles.

Situated on a seven-acre, pie-shaped site, the new headquarters includes a single-story, 15,000-square-foot office building and a 16,000-square-foot truck shelter.

Union Electric recently took occupancy of the new facility.

The new buildings will accommodate Union Electric's expanding service capabilities and the 50 percent population increase experienced by St. Charles County over the past decade.

Eighty-five Union Electric employees will work in the office. The St. Charles area serves 48,000 customers in a 270-square-mile area.

S.M. Wilson & Co. is a diversified contracting company with offices also in St. Louis.

Research works.

Psalm 100:2... "Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing."

The most satisfying and fulfilling experience in one's life is that of serving God. The knowledge that we are doing something for Him fills a need within us that nothing else in the world can.

We were created by Him for His good pleasure. It is God's desire to have fellowship with us. He is most pleased when we are close to Him and certainly we are most happy when He is close to us.

One of the outstanding characteristics of Christian life is joy. He is happy inside and it shows outside. He serves God with gladness.

Will you serve Him? Today.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center nurses in action

This story is dedicated to the more than 180 nurses at SEMC in commemoration of National Nurses' Day May 7 and Illinois Nurses' Week, May 7 to 13.

By S. Paige Patterson
SEMC

At 8:45 a.m., Sandy Wrigley, a registered nurse at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City, pushes a stainless steel cart filled with boxes of sterile dressings, intravenous tubing, filters and catheters — among the tools of the IV nurse's trade.

"The IV nurses insert peripheral IV catheters and perform tubing changes on the central line IVs. The central line is an IV catheter that goes directly into the subclavian vein. Some central line tubings must be changed every 24 to 48 hours to prevent infection," Wrigley explains.

Wrigley moves quickly. She charts everything on the IV Flow Sheet.

This morning she has a lot to accomplish. She has one patient who needs an IV piggyback medication before surgery, and she will assist the doctor with a central line insertion on another patient.

Meanwhile, in St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Gerson Strong Wellness Center, Denise Saksa, RN, a Home Health nurse, prepares to visit her patients in their homes.

"She checks her route and heads down the stairs while she talks about her career as a Home Health nurse."

"There is a lot of independence and variety involved in my job. I enjoy that. I spend a lot of time on the road," Saksa says. She jots down her mileage, buckles her safety belt and pulls onto Iowa Street.

A digital clock attached to the dashboard of her big, slate-gray Oldsmobile reads 9:24 a.m.

At 9:26 a.m., she parks the Olds in front of her patient's house and writes her mileage on the chart. She grabs her black medical bag and heads up the sidewalk.

Up the stairs. Knock. Knock. Knock. Knock.

No answer.

"Mata," Saksa calls as she opens the door. "She knows I'm coming this morning."

Inside, Saksa walks to the bedroom where Mata is sleeping and wakes her up.

"Good morning, Mata."

For the next few minutes, Saksa helps Mata get out of bed and into a rocking chair. It's a slow process, starting with Mata remarks, "I don't have arthritis. The doctor said I have arthritis."

"You mean you have arthritis," Saksa replies.

"I don't think I should," Mata replies.

On with the housecoat. Into the rocker. Look for Mata's hearing aid. Into the bathroom for some water. Swish. Swish. Back to Mata's leg with a bandage wrapped around it.

"Where's your hearing aid?" Saksa asks loudly.

"It's by the phone. No. Oh, I put it on the dresser. No. Oh, I know, I put it in my purse," Mata responds.

"Where are your glasses?"

"On the dresser."

9:40 a.m. Thermometer in.

9:41 a.m. Thermometer beeps.

9:42 a.m. Blood Pressure. Quiet.

9:43 a.m. Pulse. Quiet.

9:45 a.m. Saksa undoes the bandage. Swish. Swish. She cleans Mata's leg and wraps it in fresh bandages.

Then Mata slowly moves into the kitchen while Saksa holds her arm.

Before she leaves, Saksa asks Mata if there's anything else she needs. Mata shakes her head back and forth. Saksa says her goodbyes and heads back through the front door to the street.

Back at SEMC, Sandy Wrigley is heading for room 433.

"Let me check your IV," Sandy tells a patient.

"This was changed yesterday, so we're OK on the tubing. So she's going at 60 cc or 1,000 units per hour, so that's OK," Sandy mumbles to herself under her breath before marking the information on her chart.

She pauses to talk for a few minutes.

"We are a service to the nurses as well as patients," she explains. "It gives the patients confidence to know that someone who is specially trained in IV therapy is putting their IV in. We try to help make the nurses' job easier and make the patient's IV therapy less painful."

At 9:35 a.m., the nurses' station on 4-Doctors is busy.

Filled with nurses, social workers, dietitians, doctors and unit secretaries working with each other for a venipuncture.

"This IV has to come out. We move them every three days. The doctor has ordered some more IVs to build your strength back up," Wrigley explains to the patient.

Blatly stare. The patient's head shakes slightly. Then Wrigley acknowledges her and quickly moves on to the next room.

"I'm not sure if she understands, but you explain what you are doing to the patients," she says.

Back in room 428. The patient is getting ready to go to surgery, and Wrigley starts the IV piggyback medication.

It's 10:12 a.m. Time for a short break. Wrigley goes back to 2-Binney to the nurses' lounge. She washes her hands, gets a glass of water and grabs a policy and procedures manual to look up information about changing central lines.

She needs to find out how much IV catheter is required to culture a central line.

"It takes a lot of knowledge. IV therapy isn't just sticking people with needles. We do a lot of things that require a special knowledge," Wrigley explains.

After looking through the manual, Wrigley says, "The floor nurses help us a lot, because we get so busy. Organization is very important on this job."

Wrigley works in 10-hour days in different patient care areas including outpatient chemotherapy.

At 10:20 a.m. the break is almost over.

On the way back to 4-Doctors, Wrigley stops to see about a patient seeking wheeled to surgery.

"Let's make sure the piggyback medication is running OK," she says, pausing to look at the plastic bag hanging above the patient. Then she is on her way to another responsibility.

At 10:35 a.m., Denise Saksa is visiting with her next patient, Elden Craft, a Granite City man who recently had surgery for a ruptured appendix.

She takes a few moments to question him about the medications he is taking and writes them on his chart.

"Many drugs have side effects. If you have any questions, call your physician," Saksa tells Craft.

Within 30 minutes, Saksa has changed the patient's dressing, and prepares for her next visit, in Mitchell.

As she drives toward the edge of town she talks quietly.

"When I drive down the streets of Granite, it's kind of funny. I can point to the houses and say, 'Oh, I saw someone there and there.'"

"I've never had any trouble while I was traveling from house to house. I know it could happen, but we all take precautions. I never carry any money with me, except a quarter for the phone and a couple of bucks for lunch. I also have a can of spray on my key chain in case someone would try to grab me," Saksa says.

"Before we leave the office, we mark our route. That way, if someone needs to contact us, they can tell where we are and we can call the people we are visiting if they have a phone."

Saksa has worked in Home Health since June 1989, and prior to that she worked in 3-Binney.

"Care-giving is kind of in your personality, because you have to be a people-person and have dedicated, caring and the love of people," Saksa says as she stops at the next patient's home.

When people are in their homes, it is easier to talk with them and teach them," she says as she charts her mileage and steps into a brisk April

Knock. Knock. Knock.

11:10 a.m.

"I don't see a light on."

Knock. Knock. Knock.

11:11 a.m.

"You have the wind, weather conditions, flat tires, locking keys in the car and other things to contend with when you are working out here," Saksa says.

Knock. Knock. Tap. Knock.

"Ar-ar-ar-ar."

"Oh, yes, I forgot about dogs," Saksa says jokingly as she turns from the porch to see a large yellow dog approaching.

"Hi doggie," she says in a very calm voice.

Knock. Knock. Knock.

"I guess no one's at home. I'll have to change my route."

Denise Saksa, takes Elden Craft's blood pressure in his home

Back in the Oldsmobile, Saksa makes a note by the patient's chart and is on the road again.

The next stop is Town and Country Apartments in Granite City.

Saksa has one more patient to visit before she heads back to the office to do her paperwork.

"The patients really get accustomed to visiting. I work on Christmas Day and I think I was the only one who saw some of those patients all day long," Saksa remarks as she walks into the apartment.

The next patient is suffering from pneumonia.

Saksa checks her blood pressure.

Quiet.

"Even your blood pressure sounds tired," Saksa jokes with Blanche, who is lying still in a kitchen chair.

"Oh, I am tired," Blanche responds. "I'm ready to go back to bed."

Saksa pulls out her chart.

Blanche, let's see if you can get dressed. I set that for a goal. Maybe next week?"

Blanche sits silent and still, any node.

A few moments later Saksa gives Blanche her breathing treatment. A half-hour later, Saksa finishes the treatment and takes a few minutes to chat with the patient before saying goodbye.

At 12:06 p.m., Saksa is done visiting her morning patients.

She notes her mileage as she drives into the Wellness Center parking lot. Then she heads up the stairs to the Home Health offices.

Q: 4-Doctors, Pat Bernaix, RN, reviews the new admissions for the afternoon, and checks on a patient who is going to have some tests run. Then she returns to the nurses' station to do the "dots" (as the nurses call the form). It is an accuracy sheet that must be filled out to explain how sick the patients are and how much nursing care will be needed.

Bernaix pencils in the circles, she talks about her 31 years as a nurse at SEMC.

"It is interesting. Everyday is different. We deal with a variety of patient illnesses and we work as a team."

"I am the team leader today on one side of the hall. I have rooms 439-445, but tomorrow I may be distributing medicine or be the charge nurse."

"Ms. Bernaix," the unit secretary calls into the nurses' room. "They are going to get 446 now."

The patient is getting ready to go to surgery and Bernaix must check the chart and sign off the time before the patient leaves for surgery.

As the orderly wheels the patient out of the room, Bernaix places the patient's chart under the gurney mattress and helps the OR transporter scoot the patient from her bed onto the gurney. With a lift, tug and push, the patient is secure.

Bernaix flips up the gurney rail in one fluid motion like she has done for years and heads back to the nurses' station. She talks about beginning her career in nursing.

"I feel I was called to be a nurse. I was an LPN (licensed practical nurse) for 10 years and then I went into RN (registered nurse) training. It's something I just knew I'd do, and it has always worked. If I couldn't be a nurse, I can't think of anything else I would want to be," Bernaix says.

At 1:20 p.m., she goes down the hall to the patient's room.

For the next 20 minutes, she explains to the patient how to work the call light, the TV and the bed, and asks many questions about the patient's health history.

"When did you see the doctor?"

"This morning."

"Why?"

"My blood sugar is up and he wants to get my sugar down," the patient replies.

Bernaix continues, "How tall are you? Do you have a heart condition? Do you have any breathing problems?" And so on.

Then Bernaix writes down a list of the medications the patient brought in and asks her about it.

The patient looks up and smiles. "Boy, when you leave here they know everything about you, don't they?"

the OR transporter scoot the patient from her bed onto the gurney. With a lift, tug and push, the patient is secure.

Bernaix flips up the gurney rail in one fluid motion like she has done for years and heads back to the nurses' station. She talks about beginning her career in nursing.

"I feel I was called to be a nurse. I was an LPN (licensed practical nurse) for 10 years and then I went into RN (registered nurse) training. It's something I just knew I'd do, and it has always worked. If I couldn't be a nurse, I can't think of anything else I would want to be," Bernaix says.

At 1:20 p.m., she goes down the hall to the patient's room.

For the next 20 minutes, she explains to the patient how to work the call light, the TV and the bed, and asks many questions about the patient's health history.

"When did you see the doctor?"

"This morning."

"Why?"

"My blood sugar is up and he wants to get my sugar down," the patient replies.

Bernaix continues, "How tall are you? Do you have a heart condition? Do you have any breathing problems?" And so on.

Then Bernaix writes down a list of the medications the patient brought in and asks her about it.

The patient looks up and smiles. "Boy, when you leave here they know everything about you, don't they?"

Q: 4-Doctors, Pat Bernaix, RN, reviews the new admissions for the afternoon, and checks on a patient who is going to have some tests run. Then she returns to the nurses' station to do the "dots" (as the nurses call the form). It is an accuracy sheet that must be filled out to explain how sick the patients are and how much nursing care will be needed.

Bernaix pencils in the circles, she talks about her 31 years as a nurse at SEMC.

"It is interesting. Everyday is different. We deal with a variety of patient illnesses and we work as a team."

"I am the team leader today on one side of the hall. I have rooms 439-445, but tomorrow I may be distributing medicine or be the charge nurse."

"Ms. Bernaix," the unit secretary calls into the nurses' room. "They are going to get 446 now."

The patient is getting ready to go to surgery and Bernaix must check the chart and sign off the time before the patient leaves for surgery.

As the orderly wheels the patient out of the room, Bernaix places the patient's chart under the gurney mattress and helps

Hopeful Warriors open regional today

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — Bob Stegemeier has seen it happen to better teams than his. He hopes it doesn't happen to the Warriors.

"I've seen major league teams score 16 runs in one game and then get shut out the next time," Stegemeier said. "Thinking home run is almost always fatal."

The Warriors are coming off an 18-3, eight-homer win at Carbondale on Saturday in which they set two state records and tied two others. And their 45 total bases might be another mark, although there are no total base records listed in the IHSA book.

But that is in the past. Granite City plays Civic Memorial at Carbondale (6-15) at 4:15 today at Varsity Field in the first round of the Edwardsville Regional.

Stegemeier is expecting just about anything from the second-seeded Warriors.

"I have told this team they are good enough to win the regional and the sectional," he said. "I also told them they can be bad enough to lose to (No. 7 seed) CM. It depends which team shows up."

As expected, senior catcher Joe Wallace leads the Warrior offense with nine home runs, 25 RBIs and a .473 batting average. He also has an incredible 1,658 slugging percentage (55 total bases in 52 at bats). With a good post-season, Wallace could yet challenge Steve Trittschuh's school record for single-season batting (.488 in 1983). He already holds the school single-season and career home run (18) records, and his 88 career RBIs could also be a school record.

"It was almost impossible for Joe to live up to all the recognition he got coming into the season," said Stegemeier. "But he has. He has done it all for us. There have been scouts at almost all our games, and Joe has proved it. But he just needed to be himself. He's really handled it well. Joe is just a likable kid and all the attention hasn't run him."

Junior Dan Partney is hitting .404 with three home runs and 15 RBIs. And senior Brian Harshy is at .359 with eight home runs, 23 RBIs and an .871 slugging percentage.

"But Brian has been a streak hitter," said Stegemeier.

Indeed, five of his home runs and 11 of his RBIs came in just two games — both of which Harshy also pitched. He's 3-2 with a 5.16 ERA.

"Brian obviously hits better when he pitches," Stegemeier said.

Despite a .229 average, junior right fielder Ryan Reeves has knocked in 14 runs and senior first baseman Tony Sternberg (.294) has 12 RBIs. Senior Rich Schardan is batting .288 with 11 RBIs. He's also the Warriors' top pitcher with a 4-2 record and a 2.54 ERA. Schardan will pitch today. He has five complete games, with 32 strikeouts and only 11 walks in 41½ innings.

"Richie has had a great year," said Stegemeier. "He also has a .964 fielding average at shortstop."

Junior second baseman Jim McKechnie is hitting .333, senior center fielder Chad Lignoul is at .245 and senior third baseman Mike Mueller is at .224.

Junior Mike Nordstrom is 4-0 with a 1.54 ERA, although Stegemeier is leaning towards starting senior Tom Senecyn (2-2, 1.38) in Saturday's semifinal if the Warriors win today. Senecyn has 23 strikeouts and 14 walks in only 20½ innings. He also has two saves. Junior Chris Hill is 2-0 with a 3.29 ERA and junior Dave Boley hasn't been scored upon in 6½ innings. He has six strikeouts and hasn't walked anybody despite an abbreviated season due to a sore elbow.

"I don't think Dave is ready to pitch a lot of innings at one time," said Stegemeier. "He'll be used in short relief."

The pitching has been good overall as the Warriors have a team ERA of 3.00. They are hitting .283 as a team.

"I thought our hitting would be good while our pitching and defense were questionable," said Stegemeier. "The hitting has been up and down, the defense has been shaky at times, but the pitching has really pleased me all year. And our defense isn't that bad. We seem to play one bad inning in a lot of games."

The Edwardsville Tigers seem to be the big favorites in the regional with their 24-3 record, a pitching staff led by senior lefty Tom Price (8-0) and right-hander Joe Blasinger (5-0), plus a .378 team batting average. But Stegemeier isn't conceding anything to a team which humiliated the Warriors 12-0 in last year's regional championship.

"They aren't infallible," he said. "They only scored three runs against Collinsville with (Brad) Furfaro pitching, and we hit Furfaro hard. I hope last year's game is sticking with our players. But we have two games to win before that. Two years ago we beat Edwardsville in the regular season, but we couldn't get past Jerseyville in the semifinals. It really has to be one game at a time with this team."

CM's best pitcher is Bob Ludlum (3-4, 3.20 ERA), mostly an off-speed pitcher. But the Eagles are only hitting .218 as a team. Jonathan Denney (.233) is their only 300 hitter and Bryan Loewen (.260) is the only CM player with 10 RBIs.

NOTES: Wallace has been selected as the starting catcher for the West squad in the Illinois Coaches' Association All-Star Game to be played June 13 in Peoria. The Metro All-Star Game between Illinois and Missouri will be June 17 in Edwardsville. Stegemeier is hoping to get Wallace and Schardan on the metro east team, which will be managed by Edwardsville coach Tom Pile.

IHSA abolishes hoops regional

By Jim Woodcock
Staff writer

The regional and sectional format of post-season high school basketball in Illinois is getting a facelift after 55 years.

At least that's the case in Class AA, the large-school division which includes Granite City High School and its fellow members in the Southwestern Conference. The Illinois High School Association board of directors voted Monday to revamp its Class AA playoff method for boys and girls to ensure fair matchups and better attendance in the first week of post-season play, the regional round.

Beginning next season, teams that were once divided into four regions will be grouped together to form one large sectional field. In most cases, the field will consist of 16 teams.

Teams will then be seeded in a 1 vs. 16, 2 vs. 15 format with games in the first two rounds played at the higher seed's gymnasium. Games will be played on Tuesday and Friday during that week.

Teams that win their first two games in this format will be declared regional champions and

The change is only for Class AA schools. The 16 teams which figure to be grouped together in this area's sectional are Granite City, East St. Louis, Lincoln, Cahokia, Collinsville, Belleville East, Belleville West, Edwardsville, Alton, Wood River, Roxana, Jerseyville, Civic Memorial, Highland, Triad and O'Fallon.

have three, maybe four dogs in it," Robinson said. "We're trying to balance the competition and draw more fans. In the suburban (Chicago) area, we're not drawing at the regional level."

Robinson said attendance should increase with the new format because successful teams with high seeds will be playing host to first- and second-round games, and those schools — at least theoretically — will have a good base of fans to attend those games.

"And then hopefully, when it gets to the sectional, you'll have the No. 1 seed playing 4 and No. 2 playing 3," Robinson said.

What has to be determined yet is the method of seeding the teams. Robinson said one option is having the 16 coaches meet and vote on the seeds, which is the system used in the past to determine regional seeds.

An alternative would be a points system similar to the one used for the current football playoff format. The system would award points based on wins and strength of schedule.

Robinson said the matter will be discussed at length when the board meets June 26 at the IHSA office in Bloomington.

"We may go for something in between having the coaches seed them and the points system," Robinson said. "It's possible we could consider a 1 vs. 8, 2 vs. 10 format in the early rounds to get better basketball games."

Robinson says it's unlikely the IHSA will change the post-season format for Class A boys and girls basketball. He said attendance in the early rounds is not a problem in Class A, and the IHSA wants to avoid the potential of a regional might

Lady Warriors blank MELH; tackle Quincy ND tonight

By Dave Whaley

GRANITE CITY — Anyone wearing anything resembling a Lady Warrior soccer uniform was in danger of getting into Tuesday's game at Memorial Stadium.

Granite City substituted freely and cruised to an easy 5-0 win over winless Metro East Lutheran in the first round of the Collinsville Sectional. The Lady Warriors (11-3) won their eighth straight game and will face Quincy Notre Dame (7-3-2) at Memorial Stadium tonight at 7 p.m. in the sectional quarterfinals.

"It was a good team win," said Gene Baker. "We were able to get everybody in, and this team has done everything I've asked of them. The long layoff didn't concern me."

The Lady Warriors hadn't played since a week ago Monday, when they beat the Knights 6-0 in Edwardsville. It was more of the same Tuesday as Granite City outshot MELH 21-1. Granite City's defense was solid, and the officials a few minutes later.

for the Lady Warriors and sophomore Leslie Stavelly played the second half. Freshman Beth Rapoff, who has played goal, will be a field player in the sectional.

Freshman keeper Kara Kosten (15 saves) was the only road-block to a much larger score. She made several diving saves, and the Lady Warriors were even denied a goal by Beth Epperson in the first quarter. Epperson thought the ball was in, and Kosten confirmed it with the officials a few minutes later.

receive plaques, just as regional winners have in the past. The four regional champs will then advance to the sectional tournament, which will be held at a host school (as in the present format).

During sectional week, the highest seed will play the lowest seed on Tuesday while the middle seeds play on Wednesday. The championship game will be played on Friday, with the winner advancing to the super-sectionals (or Sweet 16).

The new format will free the IHSA from grouping teams by geography in the regional round. IHSA assistant executive secretary Don Robinson said too often, especially in the Chicago area, two powerful teams would meet in one regional final while two lesser teams decided a nearby regional.

LeVault, AU in Division III World Series

Those ex-Warriors keep showing up everywhere.

While Darin Hendrickson and the Hogan twins fell short of the NCAA Division II World Series with SIUE, Scott LeVault is still in there pitching. LeVault, like Hendrickson and reg. Hogans, a 1987 Granite City High School graduate, pitches for Aurora (Ill.) University. The Spartans (26-10) have qualified for the NCAA Division III World Series this weekend in Battle Creek, Mich.

The Spartans were the fifth seed in the six-team Midwest regional last weekend in Marietta, Ohio, but they earned their World Series ticket the hard way, knocking off Marietta College — the No. 1 Division III team in the country — twice.

Aurora beat Marietta 6-5 in an early round before clinching the regional championship with a 15-5 win on Sunday.

LeVault, 4-1 with a 5.58 ERA, didn't pitch in the tournament, but he helped the Spartans win the Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference for the seventh straight year in 1990. Aurora was 9-1 in the NIC.

ference in the NIC."

ALTON — When Keith Sveda and Joe Becker of Granite City left the dock of the Alton Motorboat Club early April 29 to compete in the Am-BASS adon fishing tournament, they had some doubts.

By 10 a.m. the doubts were still with the two, but they had enough fish in the boat's livewell to relax a bit.

"I couldn't quite believe it," Sveda said. "On his third cast, Joe landed a bass a little over four pounds. We were on fish and we kept catching them."

Sveda said he has seldom stopped to eat while fishing during 10 years of tournament competition, but he did that day. "I probably shouldn't have stopped to have that sandwich, because I've seen guys catch fish right out from under you, but I was feeling good and so was," Sveda said.

"We didn't know if we had it won at that point, as we fished a submerged grass line, but we felt confident that things were going well. We caught and culled fish the rest of the day to assemble our six largest bass."

When the men weighed in their six fish catch, it totaled 17.84 pounds. State law decrees that fishermen can keep six bass per day, but tournament regulations restrict the two-man teams

Gerkin wins at radio raceway

GRANITE CITY — Mark Gerkin of Granite City set a new track record Friday at the K & C radio-controlled raceway at 1735 Pontoon Road.

Gerkin covered the 35 laps on the 130-foot track in just four minutes in the stock class. The 130 feet is equivalent to a quarter-mile track. Jeff Malone and Chris Hogan of Granite City were second and third, respectively.

Gerkin won the main event on Saturday with Chris McMullin of Wood River second and Malone third. Sunday's main event was taken by Ace Anglin of Cahokia with Gerkin second and Terry McDonald third. Anglin also won the Dash For Cash event.

The track is open seven days a week with open oval racing on Tuesday and Friday. Stock modifieds race on Saturday, sprint cars on Saturday night and off-road racing on Sunday.

Coolidge boys win conference meet

The seventh grade boys track team at Coolidge Junior High School finished off an undefeated season by winning the conference meet last week.

Coolidge rolled up 140 points to edge Grigsby (110). Rounding out the field were Edwardsville (90), Madison (38), Roxana (14) and North (7). Coolidge took first and second in four events — the long jump, hurdles, 400 meters and 200 meters.

Scorers for Coolidge included Talley (first in long jump and hurdles, second in 200); Curry (first in discus, second in hurdles and shot put); Bucherich (first in high jump and 200); Gramm (first in 400); Littlejohn (second in long jump and 400, third in 100); Coleman (fourth in high jump); Kessler (fourth in 1600); Worthen (fifth in 800 and sixth in shot put); Davinroy (fifth in discus); Champion (fifth in 400 and sixth in triple jump). The 800 relay of Talley, Curry, Littlejohn and Bucherich was first and the 1600 relay of Davinroy, Hufstader, Worthen and Gramm was second.

The eighth grade team took third in the conference with 80 points. Grigsby won the meet with 87 points and Roxana was next with 85. Edwardsville (41), North (41) and Madison (32) rounded out the field.

Nathan Owen led Coolidge with firsts in the shot put and hurdles and a second in the triple jump. Other scorers included Tim Barton (first in 1600, third in 800); Jeff Ridenour (second in high jump, fifth in long jump); Matt Bolandis (third in discus); Mike Drennan (third in hurdles); Ian Leith (fourth in discus); and Pat May (sixth in 400). The 1600 relay of Barton, May, Anderson and Owen was third and the 800 relay of Ridenour, Kohler, Drennan and Breeden was fifth.

SFF signing up for 30 and over league

Rut it popped out quickly and there was no goal.

"I usually play in the backfield and I don't get that many chances to score," Epperson told the officials.

But she, Baker and the rest of the Lady Warriors were laughing about it. It was already 2-0 and they knew it wouldn't make any difference. Junior Angela Bion had opened the scoring at 14:05 with her first goal of the year after Tia-Rees and Addie Lenz worked the ball down the right wing. Lenz put the ball in front of Amanda Witter. She was closely marked and dropped a short pass to Bionson coming down the middle for a hard shot to the top left corner.

Freshman Suzanne Stuart made it 2-0 just 32 seconds later with her third goal, beating a defender down the left side and knocking her own rebound past Koster. The Lady Warriors made it 4-0 in the second quarter on goals by Hollie Taylor (first) at 26:19 and Andrea Cline (second) at 33:47. Then Lenz closed out the scoring at 47:20 of the third quarter on an assist from freshman Tammy Dutko. It was Lenz's team-leading eighth goal. The Lady Warriors are with out seniors Carrie Ross, tri-captain Shelly Reynolds and April Druhe, who have left the team for graduation purposes. So the 24-player roster for the post-season has only three seniors.

"Those three will get their letters and there's no problems," said Baker. "They felt it was something they needed to do and I support that."

Quincy Notre Dame beat Wood River 2-1 on Tuesday on a penalty kick by sophomore Tina Dietrich with five minutes left. Dietrich leads the Lady Raiders with nine goals and two assists. Senior Jenny Vogel scored the other goal in Tuesday's game and has six goals. Junior Angie Koetters has five goals.

"We fully expect a very tough game in Granite City," said Notre Dame coach Mark Longo. "We're a first-year program and we didn't face the competition Gene has. I'm sure he was able to use all his players Tuesday, so they will be rested and ready for us."

Senior Michelle Wiemelt has seven shutouts in goal for the Lady Raiders. "She's done a good job," Longo said. "Our defense is OK, but it's nothing special." If the Lady Warriors win tonight, they will play the Quincy/Springfield Sacred Heart-Griffin winner in the semifinals

Saturday in Collinsville (7 p.m.).

"Soccer in Springfield is funny," said Longo. "They beat each other by big scores all the time. But Sacred Heart is probably the best team there."

Sacred Heart is the No. 3 seed. No. 4 seed Alton blanked Jacksonville 9-0 on Tuesday behind five goals from the Becht twins. Alton plays Springfield tonight, while No. 1 seed Collinsville plays No. 9 O'Fallon today.

to a six-fish total. And those fish, for the most part, are kept alive and released after the official weigh-in.

Rather than head upstream, as many of the 58 fishing teams did, Becker and Sveda headed downstream from Pleasant Creek. "We fished in the general area of the old dam, and so did some other guys, but, frankly, there's fish all over that river," Sveda said.

First prize was $1,570 to be divided between the two. That's not bad considering it cost them $55 each to enter.

Usually AmbASSador tournaments attract more entrants, according to Charley Word, tournament director from New Athens.

"There were three other tournaments in this same general area," Word said. "That plus some tough weather kept participation down somewhat."

October when the AmbASSadors held its championship classic from the Alton Motorboat Club, the fishermen weighed in 669 bass totaling nearly 1,200 pounds.

"Our people like to fish that river and up the Illinois River, too," Word said. "There are lots of fish in those rivers and it looks like there always will be."

tial of having a Class A school with a small gymnasium playing host to two early-round games.

Another change is a switch in the date of the Class AA state tourney in Champaign. The IHSA voted to move the date of the tourney so it does not coincide with the opening of the NCAA basketball tournament.

Robinson says the NCAA tourney is probably a factor behind the disappointing attendance at the Class AA state tourney in recent years. There will be no change this year, however. The state tourney is still scheduled March 15-16, 1991, the same as the opening weekend of the NCAA's.

"We're shooting for '92," Robinson said. "It would be impractical to change it this year because schedules are already complete. It'll probably mean moving everything up a week, but we're not sure. Our directive for now is just get (the state tournament) off that week."

The format of regionals and sectionals was established in the 1935-1936 season. Previously, regionals were referred to as districts, though the format was basically the same.

The change is the first major reformation of IHSA basketball since the 1971-1972 season, when schools were divided into Class A and AA. Prior to that season the IHSA crowned only one state champion.

ple of spots in the regional," said Au sports information director Tom Nelson. "And when we were seeded fifth, not too many people expected us to do much. I don't think our coach (Jim Schmidt) ever dreamed we would make it this far."

The Spartans will play Montclair State in the first round of the six-team double elimination tournament at 4 p.m. Friday. Also in the tournament are Cal

State-Bernardino, Eastern Connecticut, Wisconsin-Oshkosh and North Carolina Wesleyan. The tournament will run through Monday, and the winner will have to win four games.

LeVault, a junior psychology major, is the third-leading pitcher on the Spartans, so he figures to see some action in the Series. When the season is over, LeVault will return home to pitch for the Corral Liqueur Miners in the Mon-Clair League this summer.
